You are benefiting by the ceaseless efforts that shall make this G street corner Headquarters for Dry Goods and Housefurnishings. You have the advantage of stocks selected by "buyers" of taste and experience:—The fact that one of them was lately induced to accept an important position with Mr. John Wanamaker, is evidence of an expert's opinion of the Palais Royal "buyers." With goods rightly bought—and sold at prices that are in most instances lower than prevailing, it is only a matter of time when you shall think of the Palais Royal as Headquarters for Dry Goods, etc.

The Dress Goods Dept.

District Woman Suffragists Hold an Interesting Meeting.

A very interesting meeting of the District Woman Suffrage Association was held Thursday evening at the Wimodaughsis parlors. Mrs. Thompson, the new president, in the chair. The address of the evening was made by Mrs. Heylman on "Education in the Hands of Woman."

Mrs. Heylman argued that from nature woman should have control of the education of the young, not only at home, but promising to give her best endeavors to the postition to which she had been appreinted.

Miss Emma M. Gillett reviewed the history of the finally successful endeavor of the District Woman Suffrage Association to secure legislation which would place women on the school beard. She stated that the suffrage association had not been arsisted by any other society or individuals, nor had it presented the name of any conditions of the suffrage association had not been arsisted by any other society or individuals, nor had it presented the name of any conditions of the suffrage association of the second beard, and the best women, and the second beard, and the best women.

Mrs. Terrell thanked the society for what it had so successfully accomplished, and became a member of the organization.

Miss Gillett thought the result was a competent answer to the frequent question, "What have you suffragists ever accomplished; and the successful in many directions. As early as in 1890 it legan the effort to secure police matrons, which was successful; a woman physician for the poor, a reformatory for women the proof, a reformatory for women seen raised by it for things. Money has been studied and all the leading questions, seen studied and all the leading questions were successful the leading questions. secure measures, parliamentary law ha been studied and all the leading questions of the country discussed.

In 1801 a bill amending the married wonan's act was introduced in Congress by a committee from the association, and passed in the Senate in 1833. In the same year a committee waited upon the Comtanisioners, asking that a woman be piaced in the vacancy on the board of school trustees that would occur in November of the which has resulted in a law assessed by Congress during the last season, placing two women on the school board.

of the fair.

Judge Cole this morning sentenced Geo.

A. Ball to two years and a half in the pententiary for embezzling several hundred dellars from John E. Berry of the Ebhist House livery stables. Ball, who is from Virginia, was Mr. Berry's elerk. He was extricted Wednesday, and Judge Cole, in imposing sentence, stated that but for a fermer con jettion on a similar charge, in which sentence was suspended, he would have imposed the lightest penalty possible. The particularly sad feature of Wall's case is that he has a wife and five children dependent upon him.

A Bad Fall.

Mrs. George West of 514 East Capitol street fell from a second-story window of her residence yesterday afternoon into the basement areaway, and suffered serious injuries. Mrs. West was standing beside the window, and had a fainting spell, which was the cause of the accident.
